

ABSTRACT

Described herein are methods for the enhanced production of secreted proteins. The secretion of a protein of interest having a substantially non-polar carboxy tail is enhanced by the placement of charged amino acid residues at the carboxy terminus either by adding to the native peptide or by 5 replacing, i.e., substituting, the terminal residues of the native peptide.

0997513-100901
T0600T 22ET52660